

FACILITIES & SERVICES

Scandinavia House as an Event Venue

In addition to the cultural and educational programs presented by The American-Scandinavian Foundation, Scandinavia House has become a popular venue for events hosted by other non-profits, corporations and individuals. These include meetings, conferences, seminars, receptions, dinners, luncheons, film screenings, and concerts. Revenues generated by these external usages provide important support for Scandinavia House operations.

Among the regular and ongoing users are Nordic government offices, United Nations agencies such as UNICEF and the OCHA (the Office for Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs), American and Scandinavian educational and other nonprofit organizations, and large and small corporations from the Nordic countries and the U.S.

TINA BUCKMAN

The Shop@Scandinavia House

The Shop@Scandinavia House showcases the leading young designers from Scandinavia alongside the legends. It offers a wide selection of art glass, jewelry, textiles, and accessories, along with books, music and cards, all with a Nordic flair.

The holidays are an important and festive time of the year in the Nordic countries and each November/December, The Shop@Scandinavia House expands to fill the 3rd floor galleries, adding many gift items and a large selection of Christmas decorations and ornaments. During the year, the Shop also hosts special events such as “meet the designer” evenings.

LYNN CARTER

Scandinavia House's AQ Café

AQ Café, operated by Restaurant Aquavit, is located on the main floor at Scandinavia House in a bright, airy setting, with café tables and colorful chairs designed by Arne Jacobsen. It is a popular lunchtime destination for Scandinavians and Americans alike, featuring a selection of contemporary and traditional Nordic specialties.